

Mark Your Calendars:

McGill “Global is Local” Conference

Join us at the inaugural McGill “Global is Local” Conference, Wednesday, May 7, 2014, hosted by McGill Global Health Programs!

This event will serve as an opportunity for the plethora of University researchers, academics, clinicians and students involved in Global Health activities to discuss, network and highlight their respective programs and projects. We will focus on the existing talent within our multi-disciplinary community, with emphasis on forging partnerships. Additionally, we will examine the possibilities of implementing mechanisms that will help to organize Global Health activities within the University.

Opening Remarks

Prof. Suzanne Fortier, McGill University Principal and Vice-Chancellor
Dr. Dan Deckelbaum, Director, McGill Global Health Programs

Closing Remarks

Dr. David Eidelman, Vice-Principal (Health Affairs) and Dean of the Faculty of Medicine

The goal is to share the experiences, research and approaches within our community, to build synergistic paradigms to address global health challenges and to unify efforts to position McGill as a leader in Global Health.

To encourage student participation, we invite you to identify up to two students who are involved in exciting global health research and activities. Please send us their names, email addresses and areas of interest.

Location: TBC

More Information or RSVP? Contact us @ 514-398-1236 or globalhealth@mcgill.ca

We look forward to seeing you there! Space is limited.