

Biography for: Dr. Jeffrey Ceyhan BSc, DDS, MSD, Cert. Prostho, FRCD(C)

Dr. Ceyhan obtained his BSc, majoring in physiology, in 1986 and his DDS degree from Montreal's McGill University in 1990. He received his MSD and specialty certificate in Prosthodontics from Seattle's University of Washington in 2002. Dr. Ceyhan is a fellow of the Royal College of Dentists of Canada and an active member in many local, national and international dental organizations. He is a published author in peer reviewed dental journals and lectures extensively at both the graduate and undergraduate level at Universities in Canada and the United States. Dr. Ceyhan is an affiliate clinical professor in the Department of Restorative Dentistry at the University of Washington and is an examiner for the Royal College of Dentists. Dr. Ceyhan is currently in a solo private practice in Calgary, Alberta specializing in fixed, removeable, implant prosthodontics, as well as comprehensive, full mouth, rehabilitative dentistry.